PROFILE

As a graduate with a BSc in Transport and logistics management, my educational background has equipped me with a strong foundation in Transport and logistics, management, and analytical thinking. My journey has evolved from a focus on human relation management to a newfound passion for web development. With my skills in interpersonal communication and a results-oriented personality, I am now well-equipped to embark on a career in web development, where I can apply my strategic thinking and creativity to code exceptional online experiences and enhance the digital presence of your organization.
